For Immediate Release:

Announcing, Circuit: The Job Fair That Doesn't Suck.

Presented by Hatch powered by Dominion Enterprises

April 21st, 2016

10 am - 4 pm

Slover Library

235 E. Plume St.

Norfolk, VA 23510

Whether you're looking for a job with one of the area's startups or other small business, or are a company looking to hire the area's best talent, Circuit is designed to help you make the connection.

This won't be your typical job fair. If you've ever been to a Hatch event, you know we tend to do it a bit differently. We're incorporating some elements that take this job fair to the next level. We'll have six 20 minute educational workshops focused on teaching people the best methods in finding jobs, building your team, deciding what type of person to hire, and other topics based around the hiring and job hunting process.

We will also be including a "speed dating" style exercise for the businesses and the talent to interact on a rapid-fire style basis. Designed to test your elevator pitch and ability to communicate important information as quickly as possible. Whether you're a business or someone looking for a job, having your 30 second pitch down to a science can pay off tremendous dividends. Communication is key in any industry.

Join us on April 21st at the beautiful Slover Library in downtown Norfolk. We've curated a list of companies both big and small that are looking to grow through finding the best talent. Whether you're looking for a full-time job, a part-time job, an apprenticeship, or an internship, Circuit will be able to get you plugged into a company that best fits your needs.
